My dear Mrs. Hansl:

Dr. Alan Chesney, dean of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine asked us to answer your letter of January 21, concerning Mary E. Garrett.

Following is a list of books which contain information on Miss Garrett, and which you may find in the New York Public Library. If they do not have them, they may borrow them from us on inter-library loan, for your use.

Luckett, Margie H. Maryland women, v.1, 1931. p.151-153.
(Md.G28.L94 v.1)

This may be the best source for your purpose, since it tells of the amount and the importance of her various gifts to Bryn Mawr School and College and to the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, and her influence on education.

Chesney, Alan M. The Johns Hopkins Hospital and the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine. v.1, 1943.
(Md.VD982.B25C4 v.1)

This has much material on Miss Garrett's gifts to the Hopkins, has an illustration of her portrait by Sargent, and has, among other documents in the Appendix, "Text of the Letter from the Women's Committee Offering an Endowment for the School of Medicine," and "Text of Letter Addressed by Miss Mary E. Garrett to the Board of Trustees of the Johns Hopkins University, Offering to Complete the Endowment of the School of Medicine."

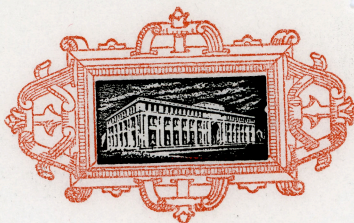

Finch, Edith. Carey Thomas of Bryn Mawr. 1947. (Md.G.T4618F5)
The author used "material collected by Carey Thomas for her autobiography" and gives many personal details of the life and character of Miss Garrett who was an intimate friend and associate of Miss Thomas.

Baltimore, its history and its people; by various contributors...
v.2, 1912. p.455-461. (Md.H1187.B3 v.2)

This does no more than mention Miss Garrett's gifts to education, but has more genealogical detail than the other sources on the list.

Also in this Library, but not subject to inter-library loan, is the article which appeared at her death in The Sun, April 4, 1915, news section, p.16, c.7-8. This would probably not be needed in addition to the books, as the only information it has which they do not, is an account of her illness and death.
