My dear Prandish Gibson

I am spending hard work in support of the invitation I have received to attend the Princeton Alumni dinner in Baltimore, is very gratifying notwithstanding the fact that it adds to the regret occasioned by my forced absence from Cleveland. Yours very sincerely

My dear Sir:- I am just able to take in hand some neglected correspondence and I find your letter of Nov. 30th in that category.

I received a telegram from New York touching my attendance on the meeting of the National Civil Service Reform League and was obliged to say in response that it would be impossible for me to participate. This is merely to acknowledge your letter and to thank you for its courteous expressions.

Yours very truly,

Wm. C. C. C.

My dear Doctor Gilman

Sixty nine is apt to bring with it some sober reflections; but they are very largely compensated by such kindly and cheerful assurances and good wishes as yours. To me, at the threshold of age, ability and spirit for unclouded usefulness, as you have done, is a gift of God; and you have inspired me to fervently wish that it may be awarded to me.

With sincere gratitude for all that your words mean to me, I am

Yours faithfully
