Campus Organizations Sponsor Book Drive

In connection with the national 1943 Victory Book campaign, four campus organizations are sponsoring a concentrated drive for books from April 10 to 17. The YMCA, Interfraternity board, Student council, and NEWS-LETTER are cooperating to secure books for American armed forces; and they will place collection boxes in Gilman post office, in the lobby of Levering hall, on the bridge leading to the main reading room of the library, and in the lobby of the dormitory.

Collections will be made from these boxes on the 10th and on the 17th; and the groups promoting the drive urge all students to place in these boxes absolutely any kind of books that they may be willing to give. Collections will also be made at fraternity houses on those dates; and arrangements will be made to collect books from the homes of individual students or faculty members who have twenty or more books to give and who cannot transport them to the University otherwise. Persons desiring this service should contact Robert Lloyd, box 1248.

Books donated in this drive need not have marks erased from them, as did books donated for war prisoners some time ago, since these books will go to American service men.

The national campaign is sponsored by the American Library association, the American Red Cross, and the United Service organizations. The national committee has emphasized the great need for more books to be sent to American service men in camps in this country and abroad. Lloyd, president of the Council and of the YMCA, urged all students to give their full cooperation during the week of the campaign since the period must be concentrated.

June Week Dated May 31 to June 4

The June Week committee, at a meeting last Tuesday, decided upon a tentative schedule for June week, which will be held May 31 to June 4.

The committee decided to have a big name dance as the main event of June week. The Cotillion board will sponsor another dance with a local band. These events are open to the student body, and the June Week committee hopes that the students will remain in Baltimore after exam week so that the dances may again be closed to the general public.

Events planned for seniors include a banquet followed by a dance and a stag party. Dates and places for the various events will be announced at a later date.

The meeting was attended by Al Beer, June Week chairman; Russell Klingenstein and David Darrow, members of the committee; and Bob Lloyd, Harry Leopold, and Eddie Duggan.

Board Declares Phi Ep Not Guilty Of Violation

At the meeting of the Interfraternity board on March 24th Phi Epsilon Pi was exonerated from the charge brought by Phi Sigma Delta concerning pledging violations. Tom Massey, chairman of the committee to investigate the case and to consider amendments to the constitution covering such rushing complications, presented the following report:

'We feel that at this time no definite legislative action should be taken, although it is to be recommended, for incorporation in future rushing agreements, that a ruling be made to the effect that without approval, no man, after breaking a pledge, may accept another bid within a specified time. Any definite ruling will not aid desirable interfraternity relations at the present time for obvious reasons. It is agreed that the case before the Board arose because of uncertainty on the part of the pledge in question, not because of actions on the part of either fraternity involved, and the case should be dropped. This is to be taken as final action.' The decision of the committee was unanimously approved and the case accordingly dropped.

Future Clothes Problems Solved by Grove

By MARIE GROVE

It started off with sugar rationing; then before we knew it, most foods were rationed. Recently shoes were rationed, and no female needs to be told what the next step will be. They all know that before they can buy up enough clothes for the next ten years, the fatal blow will strike. No longer will they be able to buy 'the cutest little silk jersey' or 'that darling print' whenever they feel so inclined. Already, hundreds of feather cuts are turning prematurely gray from worry.

Not so outdone, I have worried too. I'm different, though, because I've solved the problem. My solution is the Hopkins men. Don't laugh, I'm serious; with the men's cooperation, the Hopkins women will be able to meet the impending doom with a much stiffer upper lip.

The secret, my boys, lies in your jackets. Ever since the first women invaded the campus, they have been overwhelmed, and sometimes slightly horrified, by the jackets the Hopkins men wear. Most of them would give their eye teeth to have some of the tweeds that wander by. I know that I'd be willing to give my bottom dollar for John Seidel's blue tweed jacket or Bart D'Elia's brown checked job.

Ellington Dance

The Cotillion board wishes to thank the student body for its cooperation in making the Ellington dance a Hopkins dance for Hopkins students. The Board regrets that Hopkins students had to be turned away at the door; however, this was unavoidable, due to the capacity of the Maryland Casualty ballroom.

We hope this cooperation toward our dances will continue in the future.

Y Holds Dinner Discussion On Student-Faculty Relation

A dinner for twenty faculty members and fifteen students is being given by the YMCA this evening in Levering cafeteria; the dinner will be followed by a discussion, led by Jack Hartmann, chairman of the Y's Student-Faculty Relations committee, on the subject of present student-faculty relations and of what can be done to improve them in the future.

Student Council Meets With New Members Of Honor Commission

On Wednesday evening, March 31, the Student council held a joint meeting with the newly appointed members of the Honor commission. The members of the commission, who were elected by the Council at a meeting on Wednesday, March 24, are: Harold Kolmer, senior pre-medical student; Glenn Geyer, junior pre-med; Marlin Zimmerman, junior engineer; Jacob Schlenger, junior business student; and Peter Kerwin, a junior mathematics major. Charles Crow, the vice-president of the Student council, is ex-officio chairman of the Honor commission.

The members of the Honor commission are elected on two bases, the recommendation of the deans and election by the Student council. The Honor commission assumes the judiciary function of the Council. Plans by the Commission are already being made for the honor system ceremony for freshmen, for communications to both freshmen students and faculty, and for the situation in the night school.

Though the main job of the Honor commission is complete authority over all trials, regular meetings will be held throughout the year. The first meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, April 7.

The Student council hopes that with the formation of the Honor commission, the number of trials will decrease, and also that the student body will soon awaken to the fact that whatever dishonorable conduct there is on campus is a liability to the whole school.

Kolmer is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and vice president of the Musical club. Wolman is a member of the lacrosse team. Geyer is a member of Delta Upsilon and is on the YMCA cabinet. Zimmerman is a member of Beta Theta Pi and is on the staff of the NEWS-LETTER. Jacob Schlenger is a member of Beta Theta Pi, accounting manager of the NEWS-LETTER, business manager of the Barnstormers, and a member of the Hullabaloo staff. Kerwin is a member of Beta Theta Pi and secretary of the debating council. Charles Crow is a member of Beta Theta Pi.

The Student council is now working on a Point System committee aimed at restricting activities in which students can participate and at the same time extending the opportunity of participation to more students.

News-Letter Elects Staff

In NEWS-LETTER elections held on Tuesday, March 30, Fitz Dodson was elected news editor, Russ Baker, sports editor, Marie Grove, feature editor, and William Snyder, make-up editor. Dodson replaces Arnold Harberger who is being inducted into the Army; Baker assumes Dodson's former position; and Miss Grove and Snyder fill positions which have been vacant since the beginning of the semester.

New Candidates elected to the staff at a meeting on Friday, March 26, were: Doris Bugatch, Esther Betz, Al Gakenheimer, Toby Goldman, Eleanor Eakin, David Irvy, Mary Mallor, Ben Silverman, Ed Winchester, Marlin Zimmerman, and Norval Hawkins.

Duggan, Harry Leopold, Ted DeBois, Henley Guild, Robert Lloyd, Floyd Culler, Jim Applegate, Morton Disney, Will Lair, Herb Wolf, Spencer Flournoy, William McLean, and Glenn Geyer. Frank Wright, YMCA executive secretary, and John Macnab, former president of the 'Y' cabinet, will also attend.

Public Opinion Poll

Distributed with the NEWS-LETTER this week is a mimeographed sheet containing questions which are to be answered and placed in the box marked for the ballots outside the Gilman post office today and tomorrow. This poll, supported by the National Peace conference, National Federation of women's clubs, YMCA, YWCA, and other groups, is giving students a chance to participate in a nation-wide survey of opinion on vital questions affecting the post-war world. It includes questions on present and postwar relief abroad, post war settlements, new world organization, education and the war, and an opinion poll of the armed forces. Following returns of these ballots, the YMCA and the NEWS-LETTER will tabulate the answers and then publish the results in the paper. These results will be in turn sent

Pi Delta Epsilon Taps Dunk, Schlenger, Siegler, Dodson, Beachley

Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic society, tapped five new members on Tuesday, March 30, it was announced by Arnold Harberger, president. Those tapped were: Horace Siegler, Phil Dunk, Jake Schlenger, Fitz Dodson, and Charles Beachley.

Beachley is editor-in-chief of the Hullabaloo; Dodson is news editor of the NEWS-LETTER and a member of the Hullabaloo staff; Dunk is business manager of the Hullabaloo and accounting manager of the NEWS-LETTER; Schlenger is accounting manager of the NEWS-LETTER and a member of the business staff of the Hullabaloo; and Siegler is copy editor of the NEWS-LETTER.

Due to the resignation of Harberger because of his induction into the Army, Carl Schopfer has been named temporary president until the new group can hold an election.

Mr Harberger

Although it is not the NEWS-LETTER's policy to devote editorial space to the eulogizing of our staff members, I cannot pass over without comment the resignation of Arnold Harberger from the news editorship. Mr Harberger's intelligence, sincere interest, cooperation, and diligent effort ultimately should have been rewarded by election to the position of Editor-in-chief. Since his induction into the Army at this time makes that award impossible, this statement must suffice as recognition for his services.

His valuable assistance has been sincerely appreciated not only by myself but also, I am certain, by my predecessor, Donald Fleming, and by the staffs with whom he has worked.

A Goal Attained

The Cotillion board has been trying for many years to comply with the wishes of many Hopkins men and makes its big name dances closed to the general public. The Ellington dance, except for twelve couples who bought tickets in the hour during which they were closed to all but Hopkins students. The NEWS-LETTER would like to congratulate the members of the Board and especially their chairman, Eddie Duggan, upon attaining this goal and upon a very successful and well-run dance.

The only regrettable occurrence was the exclusion of some fifty Hopkins students who had not purchased tickets but who came to the dance hoping to buy tickets at the door. The student body should learn from their experience that advance sale of tickets is the price that must be paid for a closed dance, and that in order to attend future closed dances Hopkins men must buy their tickets before the deadline the Cotillion board sets.

The contrast between open and closed dances was clearly shown to all who have attended former dances as well as the Ellington dance. The NEWS-LETTER hopes that a precedent has now been set which will be perpetuated in the coming dances. If this is to be, the student body must cooperate with the June week committee in making the big name dance to be held after exam week a successful and a closed dance.

The Lack of 'George's'

The YMCA, the Interfraternity board, the Student council, and the NEWS-LETTER are sponsoring next week a campaign for books to be sent to American armed forces here and abroad. We undertake the project with some trepidation for an only partial success in view of the past fates of such projects as the Red Cross Blood Donor campaign, the War Prisoners' Book campaign, and even the Red Cross War Fund drive. For such projects as these cannot succeed merely on the basis of the effort put forth by the groups sponsoring them; these groups can act only as organizers and promoters. The actual initiative must be taken by each member of the University to see that he himself is contributing as best he can.

Heretofore the campus has not given its whole-hearted support to a single worthwhile project: everyone has always been willing to 'let George do it.' And there is a deplorable lack of 'George's.'

The time is long overdue when we must realize that we are not living in a world bounded on the east by Charles street, on the south by Art Museum drive, and on the west and north by Wyman's Park drive. We are living in a world at war; and even before the time when we must actually enter it actively, it is our responsibility to give of our time, our energy, and our resources to the aid and abetment of those who are vitally engaged.

Active Participation

With a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee working on the problems of the post-war planning, especially the formulation of a resolution for collective action by the United Nations, the thought comes to mind as to what tools they are using; what precedents they are basing their action upon. It hardly seems possible that they would overlook Wilson's plan; they might underestimate its possibilities. It was twenty-three years ago that the Senate rejected the League of Nations plan. The consequences of that rejection are overwhelmingly in evidence. It seems unnecessary to recount Manchuria, Ethiopia, Austria, Czechoslovakia—and on through Hitler's alphabet of 'protection.' With the League's equipment inadequate and the network of forceful action bogged by selfishness and unpreparedness, we're where we are today. Where will we be tomorrow unless we reconstruct some of the machinery of the Wilson plan and oil it with active participation?

Active participation would make possible a revision of the primary purpose of such an international organization, that is, not merely to exercise persuasion and reaffirm the law of reason, but to act forcefully with the strength of arms ready to challenge aggressive action on the part of any state. Active participation would make possible the acceptance of the measure, in 1930 considered impracticable, to prohibit all nondefensive warfare. Active participation would make possible the acceptance of a draft for disarmament, tacitly rejected early in 1932, since mutual mistrust ran too high. Active participation would make impossible

Student Council Explains Honor Questionnaire

Since many of the students seem disturbed about the recent action on the part of the faculty, in regard to the Honor system, the Student council would like to take this opportunity to explain the reasons and objections.

Of primary importance is the fact that the Student council did not in any way urge the faculty to set down regulations or restrictions. It merely wanted certain information which would tell them exactly how each faculty member is applying the Honor system in his course. The questionnaires which were used to obtain this information had specific and clear instructions stating that the Council was not requesting any additional regulation, although many of the students seem to feel that this has been an outcome.

The Council, recognizing the necessity for complete faculty support in a measure of this type, did urge the faculty members to be explicit in the instances where they did intend to apply the Honor system; and it did demand that they announce to their classes all of these instances.

There are many reasons for the occurrence of this action. Some of these are as follows:

(1) The Council feels not only that the Honor system is taken for granted to the extent of causing the students to relax their appreciation of it, but also that the Honor system must be repeatedly brought to the attention of both the students and the faculty.

(2) The Council feels that by having the requested information it can more successfully uphold the Honor system in cases of alleged infraction and thereby come closer to administering justice, promoting the practice of honorable conduct, and causing the exclusion of undesirable students (because of their failure to uphold the Honor system) from the campus.

(3) The Council hopes that the students will seize upon any and all opportunities to approach their instructors and professors; and it feels that by stressing the importance of faculty cooperation in this vital matter pertaining to student welfare, it can thereby close the gap between these two groups. The students and the faculty must be made to sense the mutual responsibility involved.

(4) The Council wants to do all in its power to inculcate full student-wide support of the Honor system.

Saved!

Tons of tin!

For years telephone cables have been spliced in a very satisfactory way. But the solder joint contained 40 per cent war-vital tin.

So Bell System men devised a new type of joint which saves up to 80 per cent of the solder. A "Victory Joint" they called it.

The new technique has been adopted throughout the System with the result that 600,000 pounds of tin and an even greater amount of lead can be saved in a normal year's construction.

This is another example of the nation-wide cooperation of Bell System people in fulfilling their ideal—service to the nation in peace or war.

On The Line

FJD

Maryland's 12-0 whitewashing of Drexel two weeks ago definitely established the Old Liners as one of the top contenders for the national lacrosse crown this year. In fact, we are inclined to think that Maryland will be the team to beat.

The College Parkers have seven veterans and four reserves back from last year's top-notch squad. Some of these boys, such as Jack Hoyert and Jack Dittmar, are practically teams in themselves. Hoyert, by the way, has been shifted from midfield to the close attack, in order to strengthen Maryland's scoring punch. The Old Liners will also have a great many capable performers from last year's freshman squad on hand. In addition, there will be a good many freshmen who have just entered in February, and will be eligible to play varsity lacrosse now that the freshmen ineligibility rule has been revoked.

Maryland Loses Forbes

Although Drexel was held scoreless by Old Liners in their opening game of the season, the strength of the Maryland defense has been greatly decreased by the loss of Jimmy Forbes, veteran goalie. Forbes, although attending school at Maryland, has not been able to come out for the team this year, owing to the pressure of studies and lack of time.

Princeton, last year's titleholders, also will put another fine team on the field this year. They have lost a few of last year's veterans, but most of them are back. The team will be strengthened by quite a few capable freshmen.

Army, Navy Inexperienced

Both Army and Navy suffer from lack of experienced players. But both schools have a wealth of good, although inexperienced, material: big, strong, and fast boys. With good coaching both Army and Navy may develop into a real threat to Maryland, Princeton, and Hopkins.

Track Team Prepares For Season Opener

The track squad minus the services of Coach Dick Hoover has been working out for the past two weeks in preparation for the first meet of the season with Galludet on April 18.

Hoover's induction into the army on the first day of practice left the team without a coach, but Frank Wright has volunteered his services and agreed to help out with conditioning as much as possible. Woerner Mackinsey and Tom Massey, returning letter men, fill in the rest of the coaching duties.

Time trials will be held this week to determine who will run in the Galludet meet, Wright announced. Thus far Harvey Weldon and Bob Eby seem to be sure starters for the quarter mile. Tom Massey and Woerner Mackinsey have been doing very well in the high jump and Jack Mayes is a probable starter in the broad jump. Harry Leopold and Vince Maggio have been showing up well in the discus and shot and Phil Dunk and Warren Kuhn are stand-outs in the distance runs.

Jake Schlenger and Charlie Miller will probably hold down the hurdles positions.

Jayvee Stickmen To Oppose City College Today

The Hopkins junior varsity lacrosse team will meet City College this afternoon at 4 p.m. on the lower field. The game promises to be a tough one for the Jays, since the City team showed plenty of scoring power in defeating Catochville, 19-0, in its only game so far this season. The Collegians have seven veterans on hand from last year's team, and are expected to be a strong contender for the high school championship.

Last Thursday's game with Forest Park was called off because of rain. In their first three games of the season, the Jays tied McDonogh, 4-4; lost to Boys' Latin, 7-2; and lost to McDonogh, 8-4.

In its fourth game of the season the squad lost to a powerful St. Paul's squad by a score of 12 to 1 last Tuesday on the home grounds of the Jays. Hopkins managed to hold the Saints to a 2-1 lead in the first quarter, but from there on the Crusaders completely dominated the game. St. Paul's scored five points in the second period, four in the third, and one in the final quarter.

A rather strange phenomenon puzzled seismographers last Tuesday: a queer rumbling sound in the earth which they could not account for. But it is not difficult to trace it to its source. It was merely Abner Doubleday rapidly turning over and over in his grave at the outrage that was being perpetrated on the ancient and honorable game of baseball which he had invented.

Co-partners in the perpetration of the outrage were the 'Y' cabinet Sluggers and the freshmen Hep-cats. The scene of the murder was a baseball diamond on the Hopkins campus.

By means of some occult power, the 'Y' Sluggers had managed to grab a 9 to 3 lead, which they held up until the fifth inning. At this point, the Sluggers, who had been carefully holding themselves down to a maximum of sixteen errors per inning, blew up completely. When the dust had cleared the frantic freshmen were found to be on top by a 12-10 count.

Moral: walk barefoot and carry a big stick.

Stick Team To Open Season With Penn State Saturday

The Hopkins lacrosse team will open its 1943 season Saturday afternoon when it meets Penn State at State College, Pennsylvania. According to Coach W. Kelso Morrill, the boys on the squad still need further conditioning and a lot more practice before they will be ready to face any major lacrosse opponents. Penn State is reported to have a greatly improved team over last year, headed by the veteran midfielder, Tommy Mitchell. Mitchell formerly was an All-Maryland lacrosse player at Friends.

Coach Morrill has not announced any definite lineup as yet, since many positions are still hotly contested. Bud Kaestner and George Riepe are sure starters for two of the defense positions. Kaestner made first-string All-American last year. The other defense post, however, is wide open, with George Blome, Tommy Thomas, and Bud Thanhauser as leading candidates for the job. Thanhauser is out for lacrosse for the first time, but has been in the race for a position on the team from his first day out.

Warren Alonso and Dick Bernard are the chief aspirants for goalie, but nothing definite has been decided yet. Midfield positions will be held down by Tommy Zink, Bob Tate, Tommy Price, or Russ Klingensmier.

Zink, a veteran from last year's squad, is one of the outstanding performers on the team. Price was All-Maryland at Friends school, while Tate starred for Forest Park last year.

Henley Guild, Olin Ellis, Stu Cottman, Fred Ohrenschall, and Skip Deeley are the leading candidates for attack positions. Guild is one of the four returning veterans; he made All-American, second team, last year. Ellis played attack for Boy's Latin in high school; he is a transfer student from Princeton. It is still uncertain whether attackman Lee Mark Wolman will be able to play, but if he should play, one of the other attackmen may be shifted to midfield.

The opening home game for the Jays will be on April 22 against Penn State; the games will be on a home and home basis.

Last Playshop Lecture To Be Held Next Week

The last Playshop lecture of the season will be held at 8.30 pm on Monday, April 12, in the Barn. Dr Anna Irene Miller, professor of English at Goucher college, will speak on Our Drama Today. Following the lecture, Mammon and the Whittier, a one-act comedy-fantasy directed by Lester Wolf, will be presented. The cast includes Arthur Unger, Robert and Betty Covington.

This year's prize-winning play entitled A House in Bohemia is now going into rehearsal under the direction of Dr N Bryllion Fagin and the stage management of William Elliott. It will be presented during the week of April 27th. The cast includes Frances Bowen, Esther Betz, Clara Cedrone, Josephine Shyers, Bernard Hoffman, Wendell Mayes, Tom Melretton, Al Moritz, and Delmar Solem.

Debaters Elect Rowland Brandwein

Rowland Brandwein was elected president of the Johns Hopkins Debating council on Wednesday, March 24. This election was made necessary because Arnold Harberger has been inducted into the army.

Tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in Gilman 108, there will be a meeting at which the senior members of the Debating council will present one sentence prepositions to be rebutted or refuted by candidates for this organization.

Brandwein requests all freshmen who are interested in becoming members of this council to come to tomorrow's meeting or contact him through post box 42.

Council Letter

For the Honor system is one of the most important principles on which the school was founded, because it implies honorable conduct on the part of all Hopkins men at all times.

(5) Finally, the Council hopes to develop an increasingly active student and faculty interest in the spirit of integrity.

The Council is very pleased to announce that one week after the questionnaires were sent out it has received over fifty percent of them back, and in only one case has there been any disapproval of the plan.

As always, the council urges the students to voice their opinions of its activities either by contacting the Council itself, contacting the individual representatives of the Council, or writing to the NEWS-LETTER.

Rumor Clinic

By STANLEY PLAINE

The general feeling of uncertainty existing among all those who are to be called sooner or later into the armed forces has elevated 'the rumor' into quite a position of importance on the Hopkins campus. It is quite amusing when we realize that the Army Enlisted Reserve was being called out five or six times before the final order actually came. The Naval Reserve was 'sure' to be called by December 1, most assuredly by January 1, and by all means not later than February 1; but all we have to do is to look around us and see that the Naval Reserves (for the time being at least) are still in their usual haunts.

Almost every day there is a new authoritative person who appears on the heavenly mount and utters his anything-but-divine prophecies which then circulate as the latest Hopkins gospel. The 'official communiques' that are issued are certainly dubious enough without suffering more mutilation at the hands of rumor-mongers.

It is the purpose of this column (in spite of its pretentious title) to clarify as many rumors as possible that are circulating about the campus—stifling the false as well as throwing all possible light upon the uncertain.

In order to accomplish this, however, the full support of the student body is necessary—not only with regard to stopping the actual spread of rumors but also with regard to making a note of them as soon as they begin to circulate and handing them in to post office box 1 for the purpose of clarification. If this is done, with some degree of support, a great deal of uncertainty and questioning should be eliminated from the campus. This column will serve as an organ not only for rumors about the military but for general rumors about everything connected with the Hopkins.

Rumor—There will be no students in the University after July 1 who are not members of the armed forces.

Answer—P Stewart Macaulay, provost of the University, stated that it is the policy of the army not to take over more than seventy-five percent of the facilities, and in the case of the Hopkins not more than fifty percent.

the withdrawal of any power for rearmament, as of Germany in 1933.

Wilson was not an impractical idealist when he planned an organization with the aim to promote international cooperation, peace and security. Too late did we begin to see him as a stark realist. Naturally changes in his plan are necessary. Political activities might be separated from non-political; stronger central authority might be needed; member states might be responsible for maintaining peace only in their own parts of the world. The main principle to be set forth, however, is that states with weapons and men show the will to use them for the protection and maintenance of peace. The agencies of the first League while failing to block a second world war, have developed a technique of approach to the solution of international problems which ought not to be lost.

Chairman Connally is hoping for a resolution from his subcommittee which can be agreed upon by two-thirds of the Senate now, thereby causing the minimum amount of disagreement and debate later. Senator Ball has pointed out the inevitability of the political and economic weight of the United States which will be brought to bear on the post-war world and urged for strong collaboration by the Senate. Representative Feighan has gone further in proposing that the electorate pass on any treaty negotiated by the President and unratified by the Senate, seeking to avoid a repetition of the Senate's rejection of the League of Nations plan.

If moves such as these are coming forth, a beginning is at least being made with an end to profit by the past misfortune and remember Wilson's points as they can point the way to successful world order when this present conflict is over, and the time to win the peace that follows it is at hand.

Rumor—There will be a three weeks vacation after exams, although it is subject to change.

Ted DeBois, chairman of the World Student Service Fund drive, reported on Monday that a total of ninety-two dollars was contributed to the fund through the sale of carnations at the Duke Ellington dance on March 27. The aggregate contribution this year is now about two hundred dollars.

Vespers Program

On Sunday, April 11, Reverend Herbert Pickett, assistant pastor of the Brown Memorial Presbyterian church, will conduct the YMCA Vesper service. He will discuss the opportunities the church has had in the past to better the economic, social, and political life of the world; and he will consider whether the church has an opportunity today to exert influence on non-secular life.

The recent series of Vesper services on the general topic of What Spiritual Basis Do I Need for a Career . . . was concluded on Sunday with the speech of Lt Oscar F Helm, of the Military Science department, on the subject of a career in the military.
